

THE PERMISSION SERIES

Five conversations, five permissions.

Five short audios to listen to whenever you have a quiet ten minutes — in the car, on a walk, or with a cup of tea you keep forgetting to drink. Each one gives you permission to stop forcing an old version of success and start recognising the woman you're already becoming. Tap a title below to listen.

1

Permission to Prioritise Yourself

You've spent years putting everyone else first. This is where you're allowed to matter too — not last, not eventually, but now.

2

Permission to Think Differently About Money

The story you inherited about money isn't the only one available to you. A gentle look at what you actually believe, and why it matters now.

3

Permission to Change

You wouldn't ask a child to squeeze back into shoes they've outgrown. This is permission to admit you've grown — and that nothing's gone wrong.

4

Permission to Want More

Gratitude and ambition can live together. You can love your life and still want to change it — without a shred of guilt.

5

Permission to Take the Next Step

Confidence isn't waiting at the finish line — it's built one small step at a time. Find your one-degree change and start moving.
